INTRODUCTION

This has been prepared as an introduction to the availability of services and publications from state organizations for those who research from home. All prices and fees are as of January 1980 and are subject to change. Please, notify us of any additions or corrections, so that the information may be kept up to date.

Letters (with SASE) were sent to each organization listed. Information given as to services, holdings, inter-library loan, etc. is taken from the replies. At least one month was allowed for a reply before entering the "No Response to Letter with SASE".

DUES: This is the annual membership fee for one person. Most organizations have several other memberships: family, contributing, student, patron, benefactor, etc.

ILL: (Inter-Library Loan) Material described is available to be loaned to another library. Rules for ILL specify use only in the borrowing library.

PUB CAT: (Publications Catalog) Most of the organizations mean a catalog of materials for sale. A few mean a catalog of holdings.

SERV: (Services) The emphasis here is on services without visiting the library. Virtually all organizations listed extend a cordial welcome to visit their library and offer staff services to assist in locating materials while at the library. Those organizations that do not maintain a library or appear to offer few services by mail do offer many services locally. These services may be workshops and seminars as well as an opportunity to participate in preserving and publishing local records.

HOLD: (Holdings) The brief listings given are those mentioned in correspondence as being the most useful for genealogical research.

PUBLISHED AIDS TO RESEARCH FOR SALE have been recommended by the various people who answered the inquiry. Prices include postage and handling. Although only one source is given, many are listed in the catalogs of genealogical supply dealers. Ordering several publications from a dealer may mean a considerable saving in postage.

In general, the publications recommended do not list names of people, places or things and their relationships. These publications describe the contents of records by time span and subject matter and methods of research. Place name publications, gazetteers and atlases are to locate places.

* INDICATES AN AREA KEY TYPE PUBLICATION or a publication that has been highly recommended. An area-key guide to research describes in detail the records, repositories and peculiarities of research in one geographic area.

NOTE on free materials: Organizations offering these are supported by tax dollars and/or members' contributions. Order only those which will benefit your research. FREE MATERIALS SHOULD BE REQUESTED ON LETTERHEAD STATIONERY OF YOUR LIBRARY.

GUIDELINES TO RESEARCH BY MAIL AND INTER-LIBRARY LOAN

Before you write the first letter or make the first inter-library loan request, check to see if you have done your homework first. Homework is just that, work you should do for yourself before extending your search to distant places.

HOMEWORK

1. Survey your family and compile your information into working notes.
2. Invest in a good how-to-book and read it! Recommended for the novice is Building An American Pedigree, by Norman Wright (Brigham Young University Press, 1974. 639p, $12.95). It is detailed enough to answer your questions and simple enough that you can understand it.
3. Discover the Handybook for Genealogists. (Everton Publishers, 198p, $10.80) and use it often to see what records are available in each county and the dates the records begin.

Use it to determine when counties were formed.

4. Join a local group and share research experiences. Learn from each other.
5. Investigate all libraries in your area...city, county, university, historical society, etc.
6. 'Run the census'...find every family in all possible federal census and available state census. This may be your first inter-library loan. The federal census is available on microfilm from the National Archives Regional Centers.
7. Document your records by sending to the appropriate state or county vital statistics offices for birth, marriage and death certificates. Begin with yourself and work back.

(Sample letter: "Send me a certified copy of the birth record of my grandfather, Robert Toombs WEAVER, born on 18 August 1860. He is the son of William Hamilton and Minerva McDONALD WEAVER. Enclosed is my check for the fee.")

8. Invest in an area-key type book for the locality you want to zero in on. Study it and follow the advice on one who has been there.

Review the homework steps, have you skipped or slighted any? If so, go back and do a proper job before going on. It just isn't fair to ask busy librarians and record custodians for help until you have done your homework.

NOW, when you are really stuck and need help...

WRITE A LETTER

"According to family records my grandparents moved to Chapin, Texas in the early 1900's. Can you tell me where Chapin was? I have not found it on a map or in an atlas."

"Will you photocopy the table of contents and index to, History of Jasper County, Iowa, 1878, Western Historical Company publishers and send it to me. Enclosed is my check for the fee."

"Thank you for the prompt reply to my request for copies of the index and table of contents to History of Jasper County, Iowa, 1878. Will you please send me copies of the following pages: 8-10, 47, 105-120. Enclosed is my check for the fee."

"My ancestor, Charles ADKINS, served in the Illinois 83rd Infantry, Company D in the Civil War. I have his complete military and pension application files from the National Archives in Washington, D. C. Do you have anything telling of the activities of this unit in the war? Is this material available for inter-library loan? What are your fees for photocopying or microfilming the information for me?"

"Please send me a photocopy of the obituary of David MOON who died on 1 April 1871. He lived in Greenfield, Highland County, Ohio. Enclosed is my check for the fee."

The above letters are requests for specific information. This is the type request a librarian or archivist may be able to help you with.

INTER-LIBRARY LOAN (ILL)

You, the researcher, should locate the material and be prepared to pay all fees. If your library staff is swamped with ILL requests, you should consider arranging a committee of volunteers to help with typing and mailing ILL requests and materials.

To locate materials for ILL, begin with libraries in your geographic area. Write asking if the item you need is available. If it is, take the reply to your local librarian and proceed with the ILL. If it isn't, try another library. Be sure to include a SASE.

SASE: Self-Addressed Stamped Envelope...must be included in all first-time correspondence if you expect to get a reply. For further correspondence, use your judgement.

WHAT YOU CAN DO TO HELP

You are in a unique position to make a valuable collection of local reference materials. It is to the advantage of a community for local libraries, historical and genealogical societies to make a co-operative effort. As a researcher you may recognize materials useful for research. As a community member you may know where these materials are stashed away.

When a significant collection has been made, consult with the professional staff of your state organisations about having it microfilmed and made available for larger research libraries to purchase.

"COLLECTABLES" FROM YOUR GEOGRAPHIC AREA (one copy of every one published)

Telephone Books	City and Farm Directories
Plat Books	Personal Narratives
Family Histories and Genealogies	Church Histories
Town and County Histories	Road Maps
Topographical Maps	Grange Histories

WHERE TO GO FOR HELP

Your local and state historical and genealogical societies, state libraries and archives.

Consultants for individuals and organizations:

ALICE CLOFTON

BA Degree from Florida State University, post graduate studies and experienced in Administrative Management and Education. While living in the Washington, D C area, Alice further developed her knowledge in the fields of genealogy and history by doing extensive research in the varied repositories of our nation's capital. These storehouses of invaluable information contain documentary evidence that at times may be the only source available to the genealogist. She examined the methods by which these sources may be searched through the mail and conducts a Genealogical Workshop which explores the intricacies of performing this type of research, including details surrounding the correct preparation of the various Federal forms used to request information. She describes information available from Federal sources closer to home, such as the Branch Offices of the National Archives (one of which is located in Kansas City). Alice has especial expertise in Revolutionary and pre-Revolutionary War period records and sources. She has seen and worked with many of the Early Colonial records and is adept in deciphering the period handwriting. Extensive research along the Eastern Seaboard and in the Southeastern U S provides her with a broad base of practical knowledge in the areas through which most of this country's early ancestry traversed.

SYLVIA NIMMO

BA Degree from Pan American University in Texas, with post graduate studies at Texas A & M University. Sylvia has many years experience in the field of education, having taught in the public school system and currently teaching beginning adult education classes at Creighton University, Iowa Western Community College and Metropolitan Technical College in Omaha. On a voluntary basis she classified over 3,000 books and established the operational procedures for an elementary school library, thus enhancing and consolidating her expertise and knowledge of classification techniques. Sylvia is a professional Certified Genealogical Record Searcher specializing in Iowa and Nebraska and a member of the Association for Genealogical Education. She has attended seminars and courses for experienced researchers both at the National Archives in Washington, D C and at the LDS Genealogical Library in Salt Lake City, Utah. She has originated and published genealogical materials primarily relating to Nebraska and the midwest. Her experience as Workshop Coordinator for the Nebraska State Genealogical Society and as Workshop Chairman for the Greater Omaha Genealogical Society has provided her with a broad spectrum of capabilities as pertains to design organization and presentation of studies and workshops.

Genealogical research consultations for individuals and/or seminars for groups, emphasizing how to do US research without going to a big library.
